Обо мне

Keen software developer with 1.5+ years of experience in software development. I'd tried a lot of different languages and technologies, and after that chose iOS development, because I get the most enjoyment out of it. For me it's very important to create highly readable and easily maintainable source code, and I understand how significant it is. I am constantly striving to learn new technologies and looking for ways to improve my skills in our rapidly changing industry.
