Обо мне

With over a year of frontend development and project management experience, Razmik has utilized tools such as CMS MODX EVO, WordPress, Bitrix, and PrestaShop. Launching an online store that saw a major increase in sales, by creating new functions for the site, making general edits, and transferring data from the old site to the new one. Razmik grew into a project management role, managing developer tasks and client communication. Now prepares himself for a role as an Andriod developer (Kotlin)
