Обо мне

My career began in diplomatic work where I served as an attaché diplomat under the UNIDO and UN Goodwill Ambassador. Throughout these years, I gained valuable skills in communication, negotiation, and strategic planning which later proved instrumental in my transition into the project management industry. Prior to my diplomatic work I was involved in various business initiatives that granted me the entrepreneurial outlook which helps me to see several steps ahead before making any decision.

Over the past years, though I entered as a Junior Project Manager, I have held several senior positions within the sector, proving my strengths and ability to grow. In each role, I have demonstrated strong leadership abilities, excellent problem-solving skills, and a keen ability to manage complex projects across multiple industries.

Throughout my career, I have been responsible for managing budgets, leading teams of more than 20 employees, and implementing successful change management initiatives that resulted in increased efficiency and productivity. My proven track record of delivering projects on time and within budget, ability to scale businesses and advancing corporate strategies has earned me recognition both internally and externally.

In addition to my technical expertise, I pride myself on being a collaborative leader who fosters open communication and teamwork among colleagues. I am passionate about mentoring and developing talent, ensuring that individuals are given opportunities to grow professionally and personally. My main focus stays on helping people around me to grow, fostering trusting relations and creating innovations for the global community.
